

The Sanneh Institute, Accra, Ghana
and
The Centre for Muslim-Christian Studies Oxford, UK jointly present a series of Online Research Seminars on Christian-Muslim Relations in Sub-Saharan Africa
Summer 2021, Tuesdays 2.30-4pm BST

May 4th

Professor John Azumah, Executive Director, The Sanneh Institute, Accra, Ghana
Patterns of Christian-Muslim Encounters in Africa

May 11th

Emmanuel Tettey, Research Fellow, Centre for Interfaith Studies and Engagement in Africa (CISEA), Akrofi-Christaller Institute, Accra, Ghana
The National Cathedral, Hajj, and the Complexities of Religions and State Relations in Ghana

May 18th

Dr Cosmas Ebo Sarbah, Senior Lecturer, University of Ghana
Christian-Muslim Encounters in the Context of Marriage-related Kinship Ties in Ghana

May 25th

Dr John Chesworth, Research Officer, Christian-Muslim Relations: A Bibliographical History 1500-1914 project, University of Birmingham
Understanding the 'Other': Two late nineteenth-century missionaries and their approach to Islam in Mombasa and Zanzibar

June 1st

Emmanuel Ossai, Doctoral Candidate, University of Edinburgh, UK
"Africans are notoriously religious", but this is how we should not think about Religion and Christian-Muslim Relations in Africa: Reflections from 'Zones of Peace' in Nigeria

June 8th

Dr Halkano Abdi Wario, Lecturer, Egerton University, Kenya
Community Resilience Against Violent Extremism: Textual analysis of an interfaith manual to fight terrorism in Kenya

June 15th

Dr Anwar Berhe, Lecturer, Evangelical Theological College, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia
Muslim Theological Perspectives on Christianity in Ethiopia between 1974 and 2016: Implications for interreligious harmony

June 22nd

Professor Tekalign Nega, Assistant Professor, Addis Ababa University
Contemporary Muslim Activism in Ethiopia: Implications for Christian-Muslim relations